CLASS HISTORY

As I think back over our school years,it seems like a dream that has been slowly sailing on and at last has come to its destiny.

Eleven years ago three of our present classmates, Ethel Vogel, Will Danby and Decker Amos, began their school career together. Each year as we climbed higher and higher, new members joined our class and others fell by the wayside. Our carefree grammar grade years were filled with joy and happiness, little realizing what we were striving and working for. After having worked seven hard years, we had our commencement at which time sixteen of us graduated from one lap of our life and were ready to begin another.

As we entered into high school, the new atmosphere was strange and we were lost as what to do and where to go but it did not take us long to catch on to the daily routine and soon we found ourselves to be just as much at home as our upper class men. The Freshman Class, with the cooperation of the students and fine teachers, was soon roganized.

In our first year history class, we went on a trip to Farmville.

Soon the time came to take up our duties again as a group of happy Sophomores. This year seemed to have a much more promising future than the one we had previously passed through. As we entered into our wonderful new brick building, it seemed like going out of a barn into a mansion. This year we had with us a new teacher, Miss Rhodes and a classmate, Joe Stanley, who had been in previous classes with us.

We began working deligently for some unknown reason. Our classmates became actors and actresses before our eyes in the Sophomore play "The Hotel Duchess". With the funds received from this play, we bought a suit of furniture and gave it to the school.

During this year we had many forms of entertainments such as scavanger hunts, carnivals and parties. We also had a May Day at which time Marion Brown was crowned queen and many of the Sophomore girls were in the court. Having worked hard, we had some money with which we took a trip to Williamsburg. So our Sophomore year closed with happiness, except for the loss of one of our favorite classmates, Earl Billy Blanton.

The next year we assumed our duties with even greater determination than ever before, realizing that day by day we were drawing closer to our goal. Once again we appeared on the stage in costumes when we presented our Junior play, "The Ranch on Sunset Trial".

The Junior Class also sponsored a beauty contest and gave a carnival. Having worked hard throughout this year and being determined to show the Seniors a good time in the Junior-Senior picnic, we carried them to Washington for a two day visit.

When we returned, for the first time we realized that our Junior year was one of the past. During this year we had the misfortune of losing two of our classmates, Hester Stewart and Joe Stanley; a teacher, Mr. Rowlett and our beloved and most esteened principal, Mr. Stanley.

Still achieving and pursuing, we entered our last round well prepared to take up Senior duties after a long vacation. We knew that in this last room, the goal toward which we had strived for four years became a reality. We assembled with our goal graduation in sight and full of joy over being Seniors. The moment our eyes fell on our new teacher, Mr. Williams and principal, Mr. McDanald, we knew they were the ones fitted for us. In our last lap. sixteen were enrolled, one being a new fellow whom we learned to be Edgar Hayes.

This year we gave a play "Cupid at Vassar", and sponsored a beauty pagent. With the money, we purchased a mimeograph machine with which we produced our annual. Every Senior spent a day of our excitement and fun on May 20th, when we were entertained by the Juniors. We also had a May Day with Louise Putney queen and all the Senior girls in her Court.

Class honors were bestowed on Margaret Lovins, first; Ethel Vogel, second; Dorothy Allen, Third; Hilda Berger, fourth; Anne Garnett, fifth; and Louise Putney, sixth. Although we have had trials and mistakes and have felt like dropping by the wayside, we have reached our goal - graduation, afterwards to go out into the world with high aims and achievements of the future.

In the fall of 1938 the girls of C.H.S. tried out for the basketball team. We had lost three of our players by graduation and we were very fortunate indeed, to see so much ability and enthusiasm shown in the new "try outs".

The 1938 season was a star year for us, even though we did not win out in the Bi-County Championship. However, we tied with John Randolph High School for the county championship. We had 11 wins against 3 loses.

Outstanding members of the team were: Vernon Allen, high scorer; Meriwether Smith, defensive guard; and Bill Blanton who very seccessfully captained the team.

STUDENT COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

The Student Cooperative Association is an organization we have had for many years.

We have a meeting once a month. Committees carry out their assignments and members pay their dues. We send delegates to all meetings and keep our organization up with the others of the state.

Our association was given the honor of playing host to the district meeting last year. We are very proud of this honor since it is the first time that a school in Cumberland County has been given this honor.
